NEW EXHIBITS OFFICER PLANS CHANGES AT LC

A dramatic new look for the Library of Congress is promised with the recent appointment of J. Michael Carrigan, Jr. as exhibits officer. Mr. Carrigan, presently chief of exhibits at the National Portrait Gallery, has immediate plans for an expanded program of exhibits of "treasures" from the Library's collection, and a redecoration of the Great Hall. New lighting, drapery, seating, cases, and plantings have already been installed to set off the elaborate Italian Renaissance style architecture of the Great Hall.

"The Great Hall is probably the most spectacular room in the country," Mr. Carrigan said. "We want to use new furnishings to highlight its unique decorative features."

Mr. Carrigan, who has designed over 135 exhibitions for the National Portrait Gallery, hopes to unveil to the public more of the 70 million items in the Library's collections than ever before. These include such national treasures as the Gutenberg Bible, the Giant Bible of Mainz, and Lincoln's draft of the Gettysburg Address. His credits include two awards for excellence in design from the Smithsonian Institution.

"A visitor should not be immediately aware of the design of an exhibit. It should only be a vehicle to focus on the objects themselves. If it is anything else, the design has failed," he said.

A native of Atchison, Kans., Mr. Carrigan studied at the Kansas City Art Institute and then spent three years at Hallmark International in Kansas City, where he was director of design for its three fine arts galleries. There he designed a wide variety of exhibits, including "Greco-Roman Antiquities" and "The Art of Steuben."

He joined the Smithsonian in 1967 as chief of design for their sales exhibition galleries, designing three museum shops and 61 major gallery sales exhibitions. In 1971 he became assistant chief of exhibits design and production, and in 1973 chief of exhibits for the National Portrait Gallery. At the

KUNITZ DISCUSSES POETIC IMAGINATION

Like a spider securing its gossamer web on leaves, the poet fixes his imagination on a few pivotal experiences from his past.

So believes Stanley J. Kunitz, who examines the poetic imagination in From Feathers to Iron, a 16-page booklet recently published by the Library of Congress. The publication is based on a lecture delivered by Mr. Kunitz, a consultant in poetry at the Library from 1974 to 1976, at the Library of Congress on May 12, 1975.

"One of my convictions," says Mr. Kunitz, "is that at the center of every poetic imagination is a cluster of key images which go back to the poet's childhood and which are usually associated with pivotal experiences, not necessarily traumatic.

"That cluster . . . is the purest concentration of the self, the individuating node, the place where the persona starts," he explains. "When fresh thoughts and sensations enter the mind, some of them are drawn into the gravitational field of the old life and cohere to it. Out of these combining elements . . . poetry happens."

Mr. Kunitz has taken the title of his lecture from a passage in a letter by John Keats in which the young poet hypothesizes on the operations of the mind: "Every point of thought is the centre of an intellectual world–the two uppermost thoughts in a Man's mind are the two poles of his World," Keats wrote. "He revolves on them and every thing is southward or northward to him through their means. We take but three steps from feathers to iron."

STRADIVARI MEMORIAL CONCERT

The Gertrude Clarke Whittall Foundation in the Library of Congress will sponsor its annual program of chamber music on Friday and Saturday evenings, December 17 and 18, in memory of Antonio Stradivari, who died on December 18, 1737.

The Juilliard String Quartet (Robert Mann and Earl Carlyss, violins; Samuel Rhodes, viola; and Joel Krosnick, violoncello) will be using four of the Stradivari instruments presented to the Library of Congress by Gertrude Clarke Whittall. Pianist Jorge Bolet, renowned for his interpretations of the repertoire of the Romantic era, will be featured with the quartet. The program will include Quartet in F major (1903) by Maurice Ravel; Sonata in D minor for violin and piano, Op. 75 by Camille Saint-Saëns; and Quintet in F minor for piano and strings (1879) by César Franck.

Both concerts will begin at 8:30 p.m. in the Coolidge Auditorium of the Library. The Saturday evening concert will be by invitation to the guests of the Gertrude Clarke Whittall Foundation. Tickets for the concert on Friday, December 17, will be distributed by Patrick Hayes, 1300 G Street, N.W., beginning at 8:30 a.m., Monday, December 13. A service charge of 25 cents is placed on each ticket, and only two tickets are distributed to an individual. Telephone reservations may be made on Monday morning by calling 393-4463. Mail orders are not accepted.

The concert on Friday evening will be broadcast live and in its entirety by radio station WETA-FM, and made available to stations in other cities through the Katie and Walter Louchheim Fund in the Library of Congress.

TOM SAWYER CENTENNIAL OBSERVED

A Samuel Langhorne Clemens exhibition celebrating the 100th anniversary of the publishing of The Adventures of Tom Sawyer has been mounted in the Rare Book Room and will be on display through Febrary 28.

On view are first editions of the famous stories about Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn, also of The Prince and the Pauper, Saint Joan of Arc, and other important works.

Limited editions and other special issues are shown with art by such famous illustrators as Howard Pyle, Rockwell Kent, Thomas Hart Benton, Robert Lawson, and Joseph Low. Also exhibited is original art by

Frontispiece from the first edition of Tom Sawyer

Dan Beard for A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court.

Books revealing the personality and background of Clemens include his travel works, Roughing It, Life on the Mississippi, and The Innocents Abroad. Here, too, is his translation of the German classic Struwwelpeter done when the Clemens family was living in Berlin, as a Christmas gift for his little girls.

STAFF ACTIVITIES

Manuscript Division Holds Institute

Participants of the 36th Institute in Modern

Archives Administration, held in Washington, D.C., spent November 5 at the Library of Congress in a program organized by the Manuscript Division.

Manuscript Division staff members who addressed the gathering were John C. Broderick, chief, who spoke on "Acquisition of Manuscripts and Personal Papers, Past History and Present Practice," John D. Knowlton, head of the Preparation Section, on "Organization, Description, Preservation, and Handling," and Carolyn H. Sung, head, Reference and Reader Service Section, on "Reference and Reader Service." Harriet Ostroff, head, Manuscripts Section, Descriptive Cataloging Division, discussed The National Union Catalog of Manuscript Collections, of which she is editor.

The participants were joined for midmorning coffee by Elizabeth H. Kegan, assistant librarian of congress (American and library studies) and other officers and staff members of the Library. The day concluded with tours of the Manuscript Division and the Library of Congress Building.

The group returned to the Library November 8, for a tour of Restoration Office and Preservation Research facilities in the Library of Congress. The program, Preservation: Repair and Rehabilitation, was under the direction of Peter Waters, restoration officer.

The Institute is sponsored by American University in cooperation with the National Archives and the Library of Congress. Approximately 40 U.S. archivists and curators participated in the 36th Institute, which was headed by C. F. W. Coker, of the Printed Archives Branch, National Archives and Records Service, and editor of The American Archivist.

Eyler Robert Coates, head of the Music Section, Division for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, is the author of an article entitled "Teaching the Blind Musician," in the November-December issue of the American Music Teacher (pp. 29-30). The article describes the basic concepts and procedures followed in teaching music to the blind, as well as the instructional materials available from the Library of Congress.

Alan Fern, director of the Research Department, joined Joel Snyder of the University of Chicago faculty in an informal discussion of the exhibition "The Documentary Photograph as a Work of Art," at the University's David and Alfred Smart Gallery on November 17. The exhibit of American photographs made between 1860 and 1876 includes a number of prints from the collections of the Library of Congress. An illustrated catalog accompanies the exhibit with essays by Mr. Fern, Mr. Snyder, John G. Cawelti, and Doug Munson.

Carl Fleischhauer, the American Folklife Center's media specialist, has published a documentary phonograph album entitled Cold Frosty Morning (Popular Records LP1). The album features fiddle playing and anecdotes by Melvin Wine, a traditional musician from West Virginia. Also included are photographs and a short biography of Mr. Wine, and brief annotations of his tunes and playing style.

Robert Hayden, consultant in poetry, and Alan Jabbour, director of the American Folklife Center, participated in the Sterling A. Brown Day at Martin Luther King Library on November 21.

The event honored Professor Brown, an internationally respected poet, editor, critic, and historian who has taught at Howard University for over 40 years.

Two record albums by Joseph C. Hickerson, head of the Archive of Folk Song, have been released by Folk-Legacy Records of Sharon, Conn. Entitled Drive Dull Care Away, Vol. I and II, the recordings contain a number of English, Scottish, Irish, and American folksongs. Mr. Hickerson sings with his own guitar accompaniment and occasional assistance on banjo, dulcimer, concertina, fiddle, dobro, flute, and cello by several friends. Each record comes with a booklet of background information and texts for the songs.

Paul L. Horecky, chief, Slavic and Central European Division, participated in the Bulgarian Historical Society's Second Congress, held in Sofia from October 9 through 11. Mr. Horecky presented a paper on "Research Activities and Resources on Bulgaria in the United States." He then investigated the possibilities for strengthening acquisitions and exchanges of publications and librarians between the United States and Bulgaria, Romania, Hungary, and Yugoslavia.

Robert L. Worden, Federal Research Division, has been engaged as a part-time lecturer by the Department of History, Georgetown University, for academic year 1976-1977. Mr. Worden is teaching a graduate-level course on the governments and politics of East and Southeast Asia.

APPENDIX I

THE LIBRARY OF CONGRESS EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY PLAN OF AFFIRMATIVE ACTION FOR FISCAL YEAR 1977

Preface

The Library of Congress Affirmative Action Plan for fiscal year 1977 is part of a comprehensive long-range effort to promote equal employment opportunity through the achievement of the following goals:

A. To research, analyze, and improve, where warranted, all personnel policies, practices, and procedures to insure that they promote equal employment opportunity for all employees and applicants, in practice as well as in principle;

B. To develop organizational climates which promote efficiency and effectiveness and in which each staff member is encouraged and assisted to achieve and contribute at his or her maximum potential; and

C. To promote the inclusion of minorities and women in all categories and grade levels of Library employment.

This Affirmative Action Plan establishes four Priority Objectives for accomplishment during fiscal year 1977 and continues selected programs initiated under prior Plans. Auxiliary Affirmative Action projects may be initiated and pursued during this fiscal year as determined by the Affirmative Action Office. Progress achieved toward completion of Priority, Continuing, and Auxiliary projects will be reported in the Semi-Annual Progress Reports on Affirmative Action scheduled for publication in April, 1977 (for the period October 1, 1976-March 31, 1977) and in October, 1977 (for the period April 1, 1977-September 30, 1977).

Priority Objective 1
TRAINING, APPRAISAL AND PROMOTION (TAP) PROGRAM

The Affirmative Action Training, Appraisal, and Promotion (TAP) Program will be continued on the Library-wide basis established by the procedures of the fiscal year 1976 Affirmative Action Plan. In contrast to last year, however, the operational responsibilities for TAP will be located in the Recruitment and Placement Office, Office of Personnel. All TAP applications during fiscal year 1977 will be submitted to and processed by the Recruitment and Placement Office. Other procedural changes necessitated by this reassignment of responsibilities are included in the description of procedures below.

A. Postings, Eligibility, and Applications

1. Each position will be announced on a special TAP posting which will be distributed throughout the Library. The posting will identify the position and its departmental location, summarize the duties and responsibilities of the position, specify minimum qualification requirements, and indicate the primary factors on which a selection will be based.

2. To be eligible to compete for a TAP position, an employee must have completed at least one (1) year of uninterrupted service in the Library in a full-time permanent or indefinite status by the closing date shown on the posting.

3. A standard form LW 16/56a (Application for Posted TAP Vacancy) must be completed by each applicant and turned in to the Recruitment and Placement Office no later than close of business on the closing date indicated on the posting.

B. Selection Procedures

1. Each application form will be reviewed by the Recruitment and Placement Office to determine if minimum qualification requirements have been met. If they have not been met, the application form will be returned to the applicant along with an appropriate explanation. If minimum qualification requirements have been met, the Recruitment and Placement Office will request a performance evaluation from the applicant's supervisor.

2. All application forms and supervisory evaluations will be reviewed by a Departmental Selection Panel made up of a representative from the Affirmative Action Office, the departmental representative on the Librarian's Affirmative Action Advisory Committee or his or her designee, and a departmental staff member who is fully knowledgeable about the work to be performed in the posted position. (However, the departmental staff member shall not be anyone in the supervisory chain of authority over the position.) Using the selection factors shown on the posting, the Departmental Selection Panel will rate all applicants. Based on those ratings and the supervisory evaluations, the applicants will then be ranked. The 12 best-qualified candidates will be interviewed by the panel. From these 12 applicants, the panel will determine the top three.

3. If fewer than 12 applicants meet the minimum qualification requirements, all of them will be interviewed by the Departmental Selection Panel.

4. The names of the top three applicants, along with all supporting documents, will then be forwarded to the immediate supervisor of the position, or other appropriate departmental official, who, subject to the approval of the department director, will make the final selection from among the top three applicants determined by the panel.

5. If the panel recommends three persons, the department must make a selection from among them. If the Departmental Selection Panel finds that fewer than three applicants are sufficiently qualified to perform the duties and responsibilities of the position, it may elect to suspend the requirement that the three best qualified applicants be recommended. In such case, the panel may recommend two candidates, one, or none at all. However, where fewer than three persons are recommended, the department is not obligated to make a selection. If no selection is made, it is within the discretion of the department to repost the position.

C. Offer and Acceptance of Training Agreement

1. In accepting the TAP position, the successful applicant thereby agrees to enter an Affirmative Action Training, Appraisal, and Promotion Agreement with the department. This agreement will identify the specific training requirements which must be satisfied by the trainee during his training program. These requirements will be based on the supervisor's detailed assessment, in consultation with the trainee, of the gaps between the trainee's current knowledges, skills, and abilities and those required to perform satisfactorily in the target position. The agreement will be signed by both the trainee and the department director, or his or her designee.

2. Each training agreement will include a provision for written and oral supervisory evaluations of the selectee's progress every three months during the period covered by the agreement. An agreement may be modified as the progress of the trainee or other conditions warrant. The department will be responsible for monitoring the progress of the trainee and following up as appropriate on evaluations.

3. Upon successful completion of training requirements, the trainee shall be promoted in accordance with the terms of the training agreement.

D. Failure to Complete Training Requirements

1. If, after receiving proper notice of unsatisfactory performance, the trainee still fails to complete the requirements specified in the agreement, he or she will be returned to his or her former position, or to a similar position at the same grade. Such actions are not considered adverse and are therefore not appealable.

E. Fiscal Year 1977 Goals

1. The Library is committed to establishing a minimum of 42 Training Agreements during fiscal year 1977. The positions will be offered in two phases during the fiscal year by the following departments.

Processing Department	10
Congressional Research Service	8*
Copyright Office	6
Administrative Department	6
Reader Services Department	6
Research Department	4
Law Library	1
Librarian's Office	1
TOTAL	42

*The Congressional Research Service's Program Crossover will operate on slightly modified time schedules (since positions are filled under that program in time for fall registration at universities) but will use the same selection procedures and eligibility requirements as apply to TAP positions.

Action Items	Responsibility	Schedule
A. Announce and post Phase I positions	Departments Recruitment & Placement Office Affirmative Action Office	January 3, 1977
B. Complete Phase I selections	Departments Recruitment & Placement Office Affirmative Action Office	February 25, 1977
C. Announce and post Phase II positions	Departments Recruitment & Placement Office Affirmative Action Office	June 1, 1977
D. Complete Phase II selections	Departments Recruitment & Placement Office Affirmative Action Office	July 29, 1977

Priority Objective 2
THE WOMEN'S PROGRAM

The Library will continue the Women's Program with emphasis on improving communication about the program, collecting research data on the status of women in the Library, and assisting those programs and activities within the Library of significance to women employees and their welfare. The advice and opinions of all labor organizations will be sought throughout this process.

Action Items	Responsibility	Schedule
A. Sponsor an ongoing program for LC employees to obtain information about available day care facilities for their children.	Federal Women's Program Coordinator	January, 1977
B. Survey LC staff members to determine the number and kind of day care services needed.	Federal Women's Program Coordinator	March, 1977
C. Establish a Federal Women's Program Committee award for outstanding contributions to improving the status of women at the Library of Congress.	Federal Women's Program Coordinator	February, 1977
D. Establish more part-time positions at the Library of Congress.	Federal Women's Program Coordinator Personnel Office	March, 1977
E. Assist in the establishment of a career counseling program for LC employees with an emphasis on women.	Federal Women's Program Coordinator	June, 1977
F. Work to establish a career referral system for LC women for LC jobs.	Federal Women's Program Coordinator	September, 1977

Priority Objective 3
POSITION EXCHANGE PROGRAM

The Library will explore the feasibility of offering employees in dead-end positions (i.e. employees in positions with no promotion plan and employees in the top grade of a promotion ladder) in grades GS-8 and below an opportunity to increase their qualifications and enrich their Library experience through lateral exchanges of positions with other similarly situated employees. All exchanges would be between employees at the same grade, be approved by both employees and supervisors involved, and be approved and processed by the Recruitment and Placement Office, Office of Personnel, as exceptions to the posting system. Rules on eligibility and operating procedures will be developed jointly by departments, the Office of Personnel and the Affirmative Action Office according to the schedule below. The advice and opinions of all labor organizations will be sought throughout this process.

Action Items	Responsibility	Schedule
A. Determine employee interest in a possible Position Exchange Program	Departments Recruitment & Placement Office Affirmative Action Office	May 15, 1977
B. Develop recommendation to initiate or not initiate (including implementation plan if initiation is recommended).	Affirmative Action Office Recruitment & Placement Office Departments	August 15, 1977

Priority Objective 4
JOB-RELATED TRAINING AND RE-TRAINING

The Library will explore, develop, and, where possible, implement additional methods of providing job-related training for the purposes of increasing employee contributions and enhancing employee careers. Activities that may be pursued under this objective include, but are not limited to, special courses to equip employees with job-related qualifications needed to compete for posted positions, and re-training of employees whose positions may be affected by future automation.

Employees will be kept fully informed of activities initiated under this objective by the Affirmative Action Office.

CONTINUING AFFIRMATIVE ACTION PROGRAMS

In addition to the four priority objectives, the Library will continue the following programs (responsible offices are shown in parentheses):

A. Tuition Support: The tuition support program will be continued as in fiscal year 1976 according to the procedures announced by the Librarian in Special Announcement 757 (May 20, 1976). (Training Office)

B. Communications Skills Course: A short course in verbal interaction will be developed and offered during fiscal year 1977. (Training Office)

C. Typing, Shorthand and Secretarial Skills: The basic courses will continue. A separate refresher English grammar course will be developed and offered during fiscal year 1977. (Training Office)

D. Validation of Selection Procedures: The Library will research all procedures used for making personnel selections (recruitment, tests, qualifications requirements, etc.) to insure that they are valid within the meaning of the Equal Employment Opportunity Act of 1972. (Affirmative Action Office, Recruitment and Placement Office)

E. Organization Development: The Library will seek to improve the effectiveness of organizational units designated by The Librarian through diagnostic research, problem identification, problem solving, and career development planning and implementation. (Affirmative Action Office)

THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT JOHN F. KENNEDY: MOVES TO REOPEN THE INVESTIGATION

A Selected List of References

Compiled by Donald A. Baskerville
Bibliography Section
General Reference and Bibliography Division

On September 17, 1976, the U.S. House of Representatives approved H. Res. 1540, creating a select committee to investigate and study the circumstances surrounding the death of President Kennedy. This was the culmination of 18 months of effort in the House to reopen the case, and was a refinement of seven earlier, unsuccessful resolutions sponsored by about 135 Members of the 94th Congress.

Meanwhile, the Senate Select Committee To Study Governmental Operations With Respect to Intelligence Activities extended its writ to include an examination of the performance of intelligence agencies in the investigation of the President's murder, and, outside the Congress, a Presidential Commission on CIA Activities Within the United States also felt compelled to investigate charges of that agency's involvement in the assassination.

Listed below are monographs and periodical articles selected with a view to explaining this latest development in a continuing American preoccupation with its 35th President and the manner of his death. For the most part, the periodical literature will serve to introduce a new generation of researchers who have been especially persistent during the past two years in the movement to reopen the investigation. Many of these writers have brought skills in such fields as medicine, photography, and draftsmanship to bear on the problems of the case. Some of the monographs cited were published earlier in the 1970's and will have been listed in other bibliographies such as those referred to below. These are selected here for their continued relevance and because they serve to emphasize the continuity between the early "classic" critics of the Warren report and the writers of today.
